

² Sing to him, sing praise to him; tell of all his wonderful acts.

Singing unto the Lord is mentioned hundreds of times in the Bible. God instructs us, “Come into my presence with singing.” Singing to God is more than an act of worship; it is an act of obedience. God’s great wonders are made known when we sing and worship (Psalm 105:2). As we praise the work of His hands and the depth of His love, other people hear and receive His message of hope.

Worship disperses the power of darkness and invites the presence and power of God. When we worship and look beyond our earthly circumstances, we change the situation. When we worship strongholds and sin can no longer hold us captive.

Ultimately, our worship prepares us for victory (2 Chro. 20:21-22). When we worship, we declare our dependency on Him and making known His presence in our lives. There is so much purpose in our worship. When we worship, God delights. He listens. He responds!

Together let us come and worship the Lord!
